CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Jobbers De a Large Volume in Spite of War Talk.

EUS NESS IS GOOD IN A RETAIL WAY

Live Stock Values Suffer Severely Owing to Uncertainty Regarding Future Course of Trade, Coupled with Weak Demand.

It is a fact too well known to every busi pess man that whenever any important question is occupying the minds of the peopole, such as an election contest or the present war scare, business suffers in a greater or less degree. It does not appear that people practice any greater economy or that they abstain from buying on account of the question at issue, but rather neglect their business and spend too much time in discussing the situation. Instead of dropping into the store and buying the merchandise which his family may have use for the farmer stands on the street corner and listens to the news and becomes so much interested that he finally home without buying half the goods that he came to town after. All over the country and in the cities the same thing is true; people neglect to do this and that and forget try and in the cities the same thing is true; people neglect to do this and that and forget to buy what they otherwise would, because their attention is so much taken up with the sensational news of the day.

In addition to that business is also influenced to a great extent by the men who are extremely conservative and who always retire from the market, and almost from business, every time there is a cloud on the horizon. Omnian, fortunately, has very few business men of that class and for that reason the effects of the war scare, which are so plainly visible in many localities, are not much felt in this city.

The whole inclination on the part of the great majority of the business men of this city is to go ahead with business just as if nothing out of the ordinary was occurring or about to occur. In some cities traveling men say that business is almost paralyzed by the fear of the leading merchants, who are refusing to make any plans for the future in the way of expanding stocks.

In retail circles trade is very active and it has been remarked by old residents that they could hardly remember a time when Omaha presented a more animated appearance than it has during the last week. The weather on most days was very pleasant and shoppers were out in full force, with the result that in practically all departments a large volume of business was disposed of.

Bark clearings show a large increase over a year aga, the gain for the week amounting to 27 per cent at this point, as against 11 to 27 per cent at this point, as against 13 per cent for the whole country. This would seem to bear out the statement made above to the effect that business at this point has not been so materially influenced by war talk as has been the case at many other cities.

Lumber, according to the reports of lead-ing firms, is seiling well, but as a matter of course the volume of trade can hardly of course the volume of trade can hardly be expected to come up to last month when the retailers of the country were stocking up. After March there is usually a falling off in fae volume of sales in this locality until about September, when the farmers are through wifn the rush of work and are ready to undertake the making of improvements. For this time of year, however, it must be admitted that trade is exceptionally good.

it must be admitted that trade is exceptionally good.

Prices in wholesale processes are still showing an upward tendency. During last week the price of coffee advanced is to 1 cent per pound, varying with the grade. Sugar remains steady, although refineries report a heavy demand and are oversold three to five days.

Canned goods, tomatoes and peaches are higher than last week, the increase in price amounting to from 5 to 10 cents per dozen. This advance is caused by killing frosts that have occurred in New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. The peach crop is especially affected and consequently peaches have advanced more than other fruits.

The market on oatmeal and becans is also quoted as being higher than a week ago. California dried fruits, and especially affected and consequently peaches and fancy peaches, are considerably higher, and stocks of desirable grades are well cleaned up on the coust.

Jobbers report the volume of business transacted last week as being if anything larger than for the week preceding and faink prospects are bright for a continuance of present conditions.

Last week showed considerable easing up in the demand for wholesale hardware. This, however, is due almost entirely to the fact that farmers are busy. Dealers that come to the city say that if the jobbers could see the number of farmers at work in the fields they would not wonder at the failing off of business.

There is still a slight scarcity in some lines of spring goods, but the supply is constantly becoming more liberal and dealers seem to realize this stringency and are not placing heavier orders than they require for immediate use. In a short time the supply will doubtless be adequate to meet all demands. At the present time the stock of garden tools and poultry netting is especially small.

No change of any importance is reported in the schedule of prices.

DRY GOODS MARKET UNCHANGED.

There was little variation last week in

In the schedule of prices.

DRY GOODS MARKET UNCHANGED.

There was little variation last week in the wholesale dry goods market. Local jobbers are purchasing stocks and are continuing their business the same as if there had been no talk of foreign complications. This is not the case, however, in all cities. Some of the jobbers of St. Paul and Kansas City are said by travelingmen to have refused absolutely to purchase additional stocks until more is known concerning the relations of this country with Spain. A representative of a New York house who is in the city at the present time says that fac dry goods business all over the east is more or less unsettled. The fact, however, that in the same city some merchants will purchase new stocks while others prefer to wait shows that the personality of the dealers has a great deal to do with the policy pursued.

The local demand for dry goods continues to be exceptionally good and prices remain unchanged.

The boot and shoe jobbers are now receiving orders for fall goods. Their travelingmen are on the road and generally speaking, are meeting with very good success. A good many of the country merchants, however, are hodding back their orders, as they expect to come to the exposition and prefer to make their purchases at that time.

According to the reports of wholesale however, are holding back their orders, as they expect to come to the exposition and prefer to make their purchases at that time.

According to the reports of wholesale fruit dealers the warm weather of the last few days created quite an appetite for cranges and consequently apples are not in such active demand. The local supply of apples is rather short and the market has an upward tendency.

Strawberries for this senson of the year are arriving quite freely and fac quality is constantly improving. Thus far Texas has supplied the bulk of the shipments, but Arkansas berries are expected to put in an appearance not later than May 1.

From a commission man's point of view this has been an unusually poor season for game. The demand for some reason is far from being up to the usual standard and prices in consequence are very low. No game of any importance is being shipped in, as for hunters who go out from this city keep the market pretty well stocked.

Fresh vegetables are now arriving in liberal quantities. Wax beans, peas spinach and pieplant have been added to the list within the last few days.

REAL ESTATE, RENTS AND SALES.

The daily real estate totals continue about stoady for the week the inspect noint.

large sale to the Omaha Brewing association.

Property transfers and building operations were especially active in the northern part of town. The lack of houses for rent has not only driven many people to purchase, but at the same time has caused an increase in the building of small houses.

Sheriff's sales continue to be characterized by an absence of hidders, mortgagess almost invariably bidding in and then deeding to the prospective purchaser. The most of the property offered has been poor and would-be purchasers are afraid to hid. Several choice pieces, however, have passed under sheriff's sale within the last few days, notably a piece in the old plat of the city of Omaha, waich brought Sincol at forced sale. It was appraised at Silcole. The feeling in the rental market is very strong and it is safe to say that dwelling houses would bring more rent than two months ago.

time manufacturers of meat products have not felt like piling up stocks beyond the requirements for immediate consumption for fear that the foreign outlet might be cut off, which could hardly help but result in heavy declines. As a result the live stock market last week held generally to the downward course and it is impossible to figure the tremendous losses fant the farmers and stock growers are suffering as a result of the war talk.

Receipts were a little larger than a week ago, list cars of stock of an kinas being reported in as against eighty-four last Saturday. In fact it was a pretty fair run for the last of the week, but the number was made up pretty largely of hogs and sheep, there being only about the usual supply of cattle.

The receipts of cattle this week were quite large for this market as will be noted from the above table, there being quite a decided gain over previous week. The receipts of hogs were also larger than the laverage for the last month, and the same was true of sheep.

CATTLE—There were about fifty loads of cattle reported in the yards today, which was very fair for the last day of the week hand more than Chlosgo and Kansas City both together. The most of the cattle were beef steers, some fifteen loads of Montana hay fed cattle being included among the receipts.

The market as a whole was slow and time, considering the few here, to effect a clearance.

Practically nothing was doing in the line of stockers and feeders, the market as usual on a Saturday being very quiet.

The cattle market this week has been far from satisfactory to the seiling interests, as values have experienced a heavy break. The light demand for meat products, coupled with a liberal run of cattle, has caused a general decline at all market points, and while the decline has been heavier on some kinds than on others ho kind of cattle has escaped. Heavy and coarse beef steers have been the worst sufferers, the market on that kind of cattle being Esgado lower than a week ago, and in extreme cases many sellers would say 40c lower. Tidy little cattle have been the best both together. The most of the cattle were beef steers, some fifteen londs of Montana hay fed cattle being included among the receipts.

The market as a whole was slow and draggy and there was a very marked absence of life and energy to the trade.

Toere was some inquiry for fat beef cattle, but it was of an indifferent character, the buyers acting as if they did not much care whether they got any cattle or not. The result was a slow and easier market. Butchers stock sold but even, cows and heifers were slow and weak and it took a good deal of hard work and considerable time, considering the few here, to effect a clearance. East Buffele Live Stock
